Subject: Skagit River GI NOI Comment Period Extension

My apologies for any cross postings. The following contains information related to the Skagit River General Investigation (GI).

The Corps of Engineers is extending the comment period for the Notice of Intent (NOI) to prepare a Draft Environmental Impact Statement for the Skagit River General Investigation Study (previously advertised as the Skagit River Flood Damage Reduction Study), Skagit County, Washington. This extension will provide interested persons with additional time to prepare comments on the NOI.

The NOI was published in the July 29, 2011 Federal Register (76FR 45543) for review and comment (attached for reference). Comments regarding the NOI were required to be received on or before August 29, 2011. During the comment period, requests to extend the comment period were received. In response to these requests, the comment period for the NOI has been extended through September 9, 2011.

Requests for inclusion on the mailing list, future documents, and all comments on the proposed project should be sent to:
